Cleantech Capital Advisors launches in Paris with new Associate Director

Paris – 1 March 2019 - Reflecting the longstanding international nature of its business and client base, Cleantech Capital Advisors is pleased to announce the launch of Cleantech Capital Advisors SAS, based in Paris, France.

Led by Ben Lynch, President and Founder, the firm is delighted to also announce that Paris-based Godefroy Motte has joined as an Associate Director.

Godefroy created his advisory & investment boutique Adrialis in 2016, following a long and successful Executive-level career in the global Chemicals sector, with a particular focus on Specialty Chemicals, Industrial Biotech and Renewable Chemistry. He brings cross-border transaction experience helping investors and larger corporations optimise their business portfolio, as well as leading innovative companies towards value-added partnerships with strategic and financial investors.

“We are delighted to welcome Godefroy to our team, and look forward to continue serving high-potential international companies in the CleanTech and Resource Efficiency sector” said Ben Lynch, Founder of Cleantech Capital Advisors.
